Every family includes multiple generations. And while this is a blessing, an intergenerational family is also a trial. Intergenerational relationships in a family make it harder, but better. In this message, Tyler looks at Psalm 78:4-7 and reminds us that we must grow in love, understanding and gratitude for all generations.

READ James 1:2-4

- In what ways is it a blessing to have an intergenerational family?
- In what ways is it a trial?

READ Psalm 78:4

- In your family, is it easy or difficult to share the Gospel with the different generations? Explain.

READ Psalm 78:5-7

- How many generations is He addressing in these passages?
- Why do you think He commanded them to teach each generation?

READ 1 Peter 1:22 and John 13:35

- According to this passage, why must we love?
- How must we love? How is that different than before we were a follower of Jesus?

READ Lamentations 5:19

- How is this passage comforting during this time in history?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS:

1. Do you have a person from a different generation who inspires or sharpens you?
2. Why must we grow in love, understanding and gratitude for all generations?
3. Who can you initiate a friendship with or serve this week from a different generation?

COMMIT TO MEMORY—“We will not hide these truths (of God) from our children; we will tell the next generation about the glorious deeds of the Lord, about his power and his mighty wonders.” Psalm 78:4

CHALLENGE

1. Ask God to grow in your heart a sincere love for all generations.
2. Take a step this week to initiate a friendship with someone from a different generation.
3. Find a way to serve someone from a different generation
